SIAN REBELS ACTIVE

In League With Communists

DESERTION FROM THE AIR

Offensive Planned By Central Government

Nanking, January 30. Latest advice from Tung Kwan indicates that there is a hitch in the Sian peace negotiations. It is reported that telegraphic communication between Tung Kwan and Sian is interrupted, and that at midnight on Friday, the rebels in Sian purposely cut the wire communicating with Tung Kwan.

As the Sian rebels are now occupied making preparations to oppose the troops of the Central Government, the advance military forces of the Central Government are renewing their activities for an offensive against the rebels.

The troops of General Yang Hu-cheng, rebellious Pacification Commissioner of Shensi Province, are in league with the Communists under the command of Mao Chak-tung, and that the Communists are re-organizing and consolidating their positions in Shensi and Kansu Provinces.

Over forty aeroplanes have left Sian secretly, and flown to Loyang. The rebel General Yang Hu-cheng attempted to send a fleet of fourteen planes to Kansu under escort, but when they were in the air, they suddenly turned and flew to Loyang.—

Pretty Kowloon Wedding

BRIDE FROM MACAU

A pretty wedding was solemnised at the St. Teresa's Church, Kowloon, yesterday, when Miss Jenny Chan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chan Chee of Macau, became the bride of Mr. Raymond Lin Chih Kuang, son of the late Mr. Lin Ying Yau of Poonchow, and Mrs. Lin. The Rev. Fr. C. M. Orlando officiated.

The bride, who was charmingly dressed in a white satin gown with long train, carrying a bouquet of white gladioli, was given away by her brother Dr. Chan Wah.

The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Chan, the well-known Chinese lady basketball player, while the best man was Mr. Chan Loke.

A reception was held, following the ceremony, at the Parochial Hall where the health of the newly married couple was toasted by their many friends. Among the guests were Revs. Fathers G. Byrne and Macdonald.

Very Enjoyable Meet

The Fanling Hounds

The Fanling Hounds met yesterday at Sheung Shui Cafe when a very good line was laid by Mr. Parker-Jervis and Mr. Bosanquet, while Capt. Swinburne hunted hounds. The day's sport, however, was marred by an accident to Mrs. Coltart who had a rather nasty fall and had to be taken back to Hong Kong by Mrs. Bradford, for medical attention.

Amongst those present were Mrs. Coltart, Mr. Marson, Mrs. McAvoy, Major Murphy, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Scott, Mr. Minshall-Ford, Mr. Parker-Jervis, Miss Jones, Mrs. Rybot, Capt. Gwyder-Jones, Miss Lois Fearon, Mr. W. T. Stanton, Mr. Baker-Carr, Mr. Butcher, Mr. Fielden, Mr. Gregory, Mr. Cavanagh, Mainwaring, Mr. MacGregor, Miss Smalley and Mr. Henriques.

tom, a wedding dinner was held at the bridegroom's residence last evening. The honeymoon is being spent in Macau.

Hitler's Restraint

London, Jan. 30. Chancellor Hitler's restraint has created a very good impression in London and his speech is regarded as a strong service to Europe and the world, declares the diplomatic Correspondent of the "Observer". It was not merely that there was nothing more in the Treaty of Versailles he could tear up. It was known in addition that General von Fritsch, Commander-in-Chief of the German Army, had already persuaded his political colleagues that Germany's present need was avoidance of controversy abroad and that army opinion was solidly behind him.

The "Sunday Times" says the tone and temper of Herr Hitler's reply to Mr. Eden's recent speech were noticeably better than those of the German press comments thereon. They suggest the wish on his part for further discussion. British statesmen wish it too. At the same time they feel that something more is required than phrases. Who wills peace, as an end must also will the means thereto.—

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS

Final Procession Details

FLAGS OF SEVENTY NATIONS ON DISPLAY

From 150,000 to 200,000 people will march in the final procession of the 33rd International Eucharistic Congress on February 7, according to estimates made by the procession committee. The estimate was based on advance requests, from abroad and the provinces, for space in the mobilisation grounds of the procession.

This event promises to be the most solemn and colourful during the entire Congress week. According to Chaplain Joseph R. Koch, head of the committee on the final procession, 40 nations will be represented and approximately 200 units will participate.

A special feature of the procession will be the gold-gilt chariot to be used for carrying the Blessed Sacrament. The canopy will be provided by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd Convent, of the same order that furnished the canopy for the Buenos Aires Congress final procession.

Ecclesiastics On N.Y.K. Liner

ARCHBISHOP HEADS PARTY

The second large party of pilgrims for the 33rd International Eucharistic Congress arrived here on Saturday on the N.Y.K. liner Tatsuta Maru. The vessel started on her trip from San Francisco and among her passengers are some hundreds of ecclesiastics, and heading the delegation is Archbishop John G. Mitty, of San Francisco. There are also 80 Japanese pilgrims led by the Archbishop of Tokyo.

The ecclesiastic roll includes four Archbishops, six bishops, 80 priests and 250 lay pilgrims. Like the Empress of Japan which arrived here on Friday with about 200 pilgrims, the Tatsuta Maru was fitted with a chapel at which the large Roman Catholic party did their devotions daily.

Among the prominent Church dignitaries on board the vessel are: Archbishop Mitty, Archbishop Rudolf A. Gerken, Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel and Archbishop A. J. Chamon; Bishop Patrick McGovern, Bishop Thomas K. Gorman, Bishop J. Ross, Bishop J. M. Lynch, Bishop M. Mulcheri. Others on board are His Royal Highness Prince Prelate V. Ghika, one of the leading Catholic dignitaries of Roumania, Col. Baron del Lapomarede, Rev. J. R. Stack and Rev. P. Y. Taguchi.

"On The Peak"

BY A.S.W.

If the radio is lighting
Like an angry Cheviot Cat,
Till it fades out with a splutter and a squeak.

If there's a mildew in the cupboard
And there's fungus on the mat
And the ceiling shows a tendency to leak.

If the garments you unfold
Have a horrid smell of mould,
And the cane verandah-chairs begin to creak.

If there's moisture on the wall
And a mushroom in the hall
You will find there is a fog
On the Peak.

When a blackwood table wobbles
And collapses on the floor
At an angle that is more or less oblique,

When you start a ghastly headache
And your throat is very sore
And with husky voice you struggle hard to speak.

When your hat is somewhat soggy
And your collar limp and groggy,
And you feel that you are looking like a freak.

Don't explain.—We are aware
That the cause of your despair
Is another little fog
On the Peak.

If you want to write a letter,
And you need a postage stamp,
But you find them stuck together, cheek to cheek.

If the matches merely flicker
And the cigarettes are damp,
Well—the reason isn't very far to seek.

From your eyrie on the hill
Visibility is nil,
So you haven't seen the Harbour for a week!

But it's useless to deplore it
Since you know the reason for it
Is a February fog
On the Peak.

In a February fog
You are wet as any frog,
It is thick and white and clammy, and it's bleak!

It will muffle you and cloak you,
Let us hope it doesn't choke you!
That blinding bl. . . inking fog
On the Peak.

SHIP ABLAZE

Dramatic Story By Wireless Operator

Members of the crew of the ill-fated vessel, Silver Cypress, which was burnt to the waterline in Holo Harbour recently, are at present staying in Hong Kong, and in an interview, Mr. C. J. Ford, wireless operator of the vessel, described how, at four o'clock in the morning, when everybody on board was asleep, excepting the officer on duty, a terrific explosion shook the whole vessel, this being followed by an outbreak of fire.

In a short space of time—less than five minutes—the wireless station, above the engine room, was gutted, the lifeboats suffering a similar fate shortly after.

“If we had been at sea, we should all undoubtedly have met with terrible deaths, either from fire or water,” said Mr. Ford.

“WE STAND BEFORE A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT”

Governor Opens Jubilee Dam

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING AT SHING MUN

Government of Hong Kong.

This reservoir was begun in 1915 and finished in 1937: its capacity is three thousand million gallons.

The height of the main dam is 230 feet: it was designed by Messrs. Binns, Deacon and Gouley and constructed under G. B. Gifford Hull, M.E., Resident Engineer.

“Nisi Dominus Frustra.”

In simple but impressive language this inscription told of the wonderful engineering achievement that resulted in the completion of Jubilee Reservoir, named to commemorate the Jubilee of His late Majesty King George V.

Before over 500 guests, who braved the cold weather and threatening skies on Saturday afternoon, His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, unveiled the tablet on which the above words were inscribed and officially opened the gigantic reservoir at Shing Mun.

RESULT OF COMBINED WORK

In the course of the opening address Mr. G. B. Gifford Hull said in part:—

To-day we present to you the result of the combined work of a good many people. The first in the field was Mr. Henderson who first studied the possibilities of this catchment as a source of water supply. Then the Government of those days began their work of obtaining the necessary rights over the area, setting the necessary machinery in motion between the Colonial and the Home Government and obtaining the money required to build the works. Then there are the engineers who designed the Reservoir and finally those who built it.

BERLIN CELEBRATES FOUR YEARS OF NAZI RULE

Chancellor Hitler Comments On World Problems To-day

Berlin, January 30.

Loud-speakers blaring marches in the streets, avenues decorated with swastika flags by the million, and tramp of Black Guards on the march from early morning turned the city into a festival celebration for four years of Nazi rule and for Chancellor Hitler's long-awaited speech at the Reichstag.

Chancellor Hitler prepared his speech entirely on his own and did not consult even his most trusted officials.

Germans in every city, town and village in the Reich were organised into "listening parties," and gathered round loud-speakers to hear the leader's words.

Secret police mingled with the crowds to guard against untoward incidents, while around dawn the Wilhelmstrasse was closed to traffic.

The crowds which jammed the streets were swelled by hundreds of country people who arrived in the capital in 120 special trains.

At eight o'clock the festival was opened by parades of soldiers, marching with the traditional smart goose-step, and at 10 o'clock Herr Hitler reviewed the Black Guard outside the Chancellery.

POWERS EXTENDED

The first act of the Reichstag was to adopt the proposal of the Minister of Interior, Dr. Wilhelm Frick, to extend Herr Hitler's powers for a further four years.

The Fuehrer rose at 12.18 and, after a brief review of the past four years, asked: "Who can compare present-day Germany with that of four years ago?"

He then demanded whether there was ever such a thorough revolution which had nevertheless left numerous former political functionaries unmolested and had paid pensions to its bitterest enemies.

"However," he continued, "our policy has not been of much use to us as far as other countries are concerned."

"A few months ago honourable British citizens protested to us for detaining in a concentration camp one of Moscow's most criminal subjects. I do not know whether the same honourable men protested against the slaying and burning of tens of thousands of men, women and children in Spain."

"On the basis of the 170,000 slain in Spain, we would have had the right to murder four or five hundred thousand in the Nazi revolution."

RACE PRESERVATION

Herr Hitler then said that for the first time in the history of mankind, Germany had been led to realise that the grandest and most sacred task of man is to preserve his race.

This, he stated, would not lead to the estrangement of nations. On the contrary, it would lead, for the first time, to a common understanding.

It would also prevent the Jewish people from trying to disintegrate and dominate other people under the mask of innocent bourgeois.

The Nazi revolution was so great that its spiritual foundations were not understood even to-day by the world.

"Does a more glorious or a more beautiful socialist, a truer democracy exist than National Socialism," he demanded, "which enables every boy to find his way to the head of the nation?"

Four years ago, continued Herr Hitler, there were 6,000,000 unemployed, while the farmers seemed doomed to decay. He had relieved both.

PROMISED REDEEMED

"To-day you must admit that I have redeemed my promises."

After alluding to the unspeakable catastrophes which had befallen the country in two thousand years of history, the Fuehrer ascribed the excited behaviour of the economic gossips who began to talk of the collapse of economics immediately a piece of paper was devalued.

He confessed he was not an economist and had never been a theorist. "The salvation of our people is not a problem of finances, but a problem of employment, and the guidance of existing labour on the one hand and the exploitation of the soil and mineral resources on the other."

If the heads of economic life could not do these things the State was compelled to take steps for proper employment of the existing man power.

The State, he said, could do everything except allow twelve million working hours go by unused for one year.

The Four-Year Plan is the most impressive expression of this systematic guidance of our economic life. It will give permanent employment to those workmen who are being released from the armament industry. It is significant for the gigantic economic development of Germany that there is a lack of trained workmen in many industries.

Herr Hitler announced that the State would take over the railways and the Reichsbank as an act of emancipation from the Versailles Peace Treaty.

"I solemnly withdrew the German signature from that declaration of a peace treaty which declares that Germany was responsible for the Great War. It is time that so-called surprises are thus ended."

"The restoration of the honour of the German people, expressed by conscription, the creation of an air force and a new navy and the re-occupation of the Rhineland, was the most audacious work of my life."

"I meekly thank providence that I was thus able to reconquer the nation's honour and integrity."

"The fact that I carried out some necessary measures without asking or even informing my former opponents, was due to the realisation that this only made it easier for the other side to accept our decisions, which they would have had to do in any case."

"As an equal State Germany is conscious of its task in Europe to co-operate loyally in the removal of international problems."

He was grateful, he continued, for the opportunity to reply to the "frank and notable" statement made in the House of Commons on January 19 by the British Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden.

Herr Hitler then corrected the extremely regrettable error that Germany ever intended isolating herself. No State would declare itself politically disinterested in the events of the rest of the world, especially not if the world was as small as Europe is at present.

Herr Hitler enumerated Germany's friendly relations with Poland, Austria, Italy, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece, Portugal and Spain, and the agreement with Japan to fight the Comintern, which he claimed, was a virile proof of how little Germany is thinking of isolating herself.

NO DISPUTE WITH FRANCE
"I solemnly declare that there can be no conceivable point in a dispute between Germany and France. Germany has assured Belgium and Holland that she will recognise them as neutral all the time."

"Neither is Germany giving up international co-operation economically."

"The speeches of many statesmen in past months give the impression that the whole world is waiting to inundate Germany with economic favours which we obstinately refuse to share."

"German foreign trade has not lessened but has increased since 1932 but I do not believe that there can be more durable economic co-operation than on a basis of a new mutual exchange of goods."

World economics, he continued, are suffering on account of disorders introduced by the production of various nations and their relations with each other. Germany could not be blamed for this.

The world economic crisis was worse in 1932 than it was to-day. The reasons for the German economic plan were coercive. "I cannot build the future of a nation on the assurances of foreign statesmen, or on international help, but on the real facts of production."

BOLSHEVIST INFECTION
"If Europe does not counter the Bolshevik infection, international commerce will decrease in spite of all the goodwill of international statesmen. Therefore I am not in a position to judge the economic future of Europe as optimistically as Mr. Eden apparently does."

"The revolution in Spain has driven 15,000 Germans from the country and has greatly harmed our commerce. Although we sympathise with General Franco we are ready to do everything to re-establish peaceful conditions in Spain."

"I have already especially emphasised how ardently we wish to co-operate with the British people."

"I have always tried to effect European co-operation, though formerly nobody in Europe had this desire, and to-day it is still an illusion, for the division into two parts not only of Europe but of the rest of the world, is an accomplished fact."

Continuing, Herr Hitler said he regretted that Britain had not adopted her present attitude of European unity earlier. Then, he stated, there would have been no Treaty of Versailles.

"For Mr. Eden, Bolshevism may be a thing which has its seat in Moscow, but for us it is a pestilence which tried to make our country the same desert as Spain."

Three times he had made concrete offers of armament restriction which were rejected. The most important were the offer for France and Germany to reduce their armaments to 300,000 men; Germany, England and France to reduce their air forces to an equal level, and Germany and Britain to conclude a naval agreement.

Only the last-named accepted his offer.

"Mr. Eden believes that all States should have only the armament necessary for defence. Has Mr. Eden got into touch with Moscow about the realisation of this fine idea and what assurances did he get there?" demanded the Fuehrer.

Germany alone was competent to decide her defence needs. Italy and Japan shared that opinion, and Herr Hitler would be happier if the full conviction of this act would spread in Europe.

For this reason she welcomed the lessening of tension in the Mediterranean which resulted from the Anglo-Italian Agreement. It should lead at least to the limitation of the apostasy which had visited Spain.

Germany had no interests there except the cultivation of economic relations, which Mr. Eden himself had described as so important and profitable.

DEMAND FOR COLONIES
There was a tendency to connect German sympathy with the Burgos Government for colonial designs. Germany had no colonial claims from countries which had not taken her colonies from her.

Division of the world into halves and have-nots did not solve the problem.

"If it be the task of the League of Nations to fix the existing state of the world for all time, it might as well accept the task of governing the tides. Its continued existence depends on the extent to which it realises that necessary reforms concerning the relations of nations must be considered and put into practice."

Germany did not demand colonies for military purposes but for exclusively economic reasons.

EIGHT POINTS
"The demand for colonies will ever and again be raised for our densely populated country," the Fuehrer concluded, adumbrating an eight-point policy for the pacification of Europe, as follows:

1. The establishment of internally stable and orderly political and economic conditions.

2. Mutual respect for the vital interests of different peoples.

3. The League must be reformed and become an organ of evolutionary concept.

4. International relations must be regulated on a basis of absolute equality.

5. A realistic view should be taken of armament limitation.

6. The impossibility of maintaining peace as long as the international irresponsible clique continues their agitation unchecked.

7. European problems can be solved only within possible limits. Germany, hoping to have close friendly relations with Italy, hopes to pave the way for similar relations with other countries.

8. National honour must be respected when dealing in questions of national minorities.

Herr Hitler recognised that at the time of the reoccupation of the Rhineland, Britain did her utmost to avoid tension.

"We desired to settle some of these problems in the most natural way by practical building up of our relations with our neighbours."

"Now that German sovereignty and equality have been restored we shall not sign a treaty which is incompatible with national honour and therefore in the long run cannot be kept."

"Peace is our dearest treasure," concluded the Chancellor. — Reuters.

MACLEANS OF ARDGOUR

Chieftainship And Arms

The hearing was continued in the Second Division of the Court of Session, Edinburgh, on January 8, of the appeal arising out of the dispute between Lieutenant-Commander Henry Hugh Maclean, R.N.R. (retired), of Windhover, Bursledon, Hampshire, and his cousin Miss Catriona Louise Maclean of Ardgour, as to the headship of the Macleans of Ardgour.

The case originally came before the Lord Lyon King of Arms in the Lyon Court, and he held that he had jurisdiction to try the question at issue between the parties and allowed a proof. It is against this decision of the Lord Lyon that Commander Maclean has appealed to the Court of Session. One of his contentions is that the Lyon has no jurisdiction in the matter of a chieftainship, and another that the proceedings before the Lyon were null and void because the petition was signed and the petition was represented by Mr. Thomas Innes of Learney, who is a Herald as well as an advocate.

QUESTION OF ARMS

When the hearing was resumed the Lord Justice-Clerk, addressing Mr. Hector McKechnie, counsel for the appellant, said:—"You are asking us to decide here and now without inquiry that a chieftainship can have no bearing upon an application for arms?"

Mr. McKechnie.—Yes. The Lord Justice-Clerk.—There may be a great deal of force in your request that we should decide that now. My difficulty, however, is that the view of Lyon is that chieftainship is relevant to the question of arms; but I do not know what Lyon's reasons are for this view. He has given none, and in a specialist matter of this kind I think we are entitled to get from Lyon the grounds on which he says the chieftainship is relevant to the question of arms. What I am suggesting is that this is a case for remitting back.

Mr. McKechnie.—I submit not.

REMISSION ON TWO POINTS

The Lord Justice-Clerk.—If we feel difficulty, as we do, about deciding this case without knowing exactly what was in the mind of Lyon, can you really oppose the sending back? It is going to be remitted back on another point, anyway, because we are not going to hear Mr. Innes until we have decided the question of his status. That being the position, it is bet-

BAGPIPES ON THE NILE

"Over The Sea To Skye"

Hitherto the nomadic Bedouins of Egypt have escaped conscription, just as they have avoided taxes and all the other burdens of citizenship, writes a London correspondent.

But there is a possibility. I understand that they will be included as a separate camel corps in the new Egyptian Army, on the formation of which the British Military Mission, appointed under the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty, is to advise. The mission arrived in Cairo to-day.

A military development already begun in Egypt, and one rich in possibilities, is the training of an Egyptian bagpipe band. A colleague of mine recently attended a special performance by a unit in Upper Egypt. They played "Over the Sea to Skye" with a wealth of dramatic detail that needed only the kilt to complete it. The big drummer enlivened his accompaniment by running round and round his drum and smacking it soundly as he passed at top speed.

ter to clear up several matters at the same time.

Continuing, his Lordship said that there might be great force in the view that Lyon had no jurisdiction in a matter of chieftainship, but before their Lordships could hold that at this stage they must find out what the view of Lyon was on that.

On Mr. McKechnie indicating that he was prepared to agree to his Lordship's suggestion, the Lord Justice-Clerk intimated that they would not write an interlocutor until next week, and if there were any matters which counsel on either side considered proper matters for remission perhaps they would let the Court know.

Mr. Gordon Thomson, for Miss Maclean, also signifying his assent to the proposed course, said that he thought the whole difficulty in the case had arisen from the fact that the parties were not in agreement as to what was meant by the words "chief" and "chieftain." That could be solved by asking Lyon what he understood the words to connote. That would clear away a great many of the difficulties.

The Lord Justice-Clerk indicated that their Lordships would adjust the questions to be put to Lyon, and that these questions before submission to Lyon would be shown to counsel.

Commander A. M. Williams, after two years in H.M.S. Iron Duke, joins the St. Angelo as commander of the depot at Malta, in succession to Commander P. F. P. Wood. ## Gas Masks For All

On Tuesday a huge Government factory is to be opened at Blackburn, writes a Home correspondent. The ceremony will be performed by Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd, Parliamentary Under-Secretary Home Office, and in the factory the thirty millions of gas masks being prepared by the Home Office for the protection of the civil population will be assembled, packed and distributed to storage centres all over the Kingdom.

The component parts of the masks are being made by many firms, and this has brought welcome work to many districts still suffering from depression.

"These gas masks should be regarded in the same way as lifebelts," said Mr. J. W. L. Oliver, the Home Office official in charge of supply. "They may never be wanted. We hope they never will, but will give confidence, and if they do the knowledge that they are ready to be issued they will encourage people to stay quietly in their own homes, where they will come to least harm."

ELEVEN OUNCES

The Home Office pattern gas mask has little in common with the familiar Service type. It is not intended for those who have to work during an air raid, and can therefore be made quite light—a matter of about eleven ounces. It is not uncomfortable to wear, and breathing with it on is easy.

The mask consists of a rubber vizor with an eye piece made of a slip of cellulose acetate, a material resembling celluloid, but not inflammable. To the rubber mask is fitted a "snout," which contains the filtering material. It is a tin box about three and a half inches in diameter and three inches long. The outer end is perforated and the inner end is fitted with a non-return rubber valve.

In position on the wearer's head, the rubber portion covers the eyes, nose, and mouth, fitting tightly under the chin and on the cheeks in front of the ears. The action of inhaling pulls open the rubber valve and air passes in through the filter. On exhaling, the valve closes and the used air from the lungs escapes around the edges.

NEW TYPE

The gas mask for civilian use is new and a great deal of work has had to be done both in the design and in the organisation for production and distribution. As regards design, much of the experimenting was carried out at the Chemical Research Department's laboratories on Salisbury Plain. As regards production, a great organisation has been built up from nothing by the Home Office. So far as visits to works and talks with Home Office inspectors can show, the work is being done extremely well, and is being kept free from red tape.

Malevolent gases that can be used in war are of many kinds, but they fall into two main classes. They can be true gases which mix with the air, or they may be in the nature of minute particles, dust so to speak, which is suspended in the air. For this reason the filter has to be in two parts.

One part of the filter consists of a pad of flocculent material, which is a dust filter. This occupies exactly half an inch in the tin box. The rest of the space, except for that occupied by metal nets, springs, and other parts designed to keep the full filter in position, is taken up by a mass of granulated carbon or charcoal. This carbon is "activated" by a special process, and is the gas filter.

When we read of the mob hysteria, and the fan mail evoked by film stars, dance-band leaders, crooners, and dirt-track racers we can hardly escape the belief that a very large proportion of the public now consists of borderline cases—"Dr. Harvey Grace."

DISSENTION IN GERMANY

Rumours Refuted By Army Chief

Berlin, Jan. 29.
The rumours, every now and then published in foreign papers, to the effect that dissention has always existed between the Army on the one hand and the political leadership of the Reich and the National Socialist party on the other, are refuted in an article by the War Minister, Field Marshal von Blomberg, in the Volkischer Beobachter, the official party organ.
Field Marshal von Blomberg writes: "Despite the previous differences between himself and the political leadership of the army, Adolf Hitler, on assuming Chancellorship, placed complete faith in the Reichswehr, without reservation of any kind. Hitler did not measure the significance or importance of the army by its small number of 100,000, for he already saw in it the fundamentals for the Peoples Army. All that he has done for the army during the past 4 years places him among the greatest supporters of national defence in German history. The newly created army rewards the faith of its Fuehrer with loyalty, obedience and affection."—Commenting on the relationship between the army and the National Socialist Party, the War Minister writes that when speaking of the Fuehrer and Army, one cannot forget the party, because one of its main programmatic points drawn up as early as 1920, was the creation of the Peoples Army. "It is due to the Party, that the whole nation to-day follows the Fuehrer with soldierly discipline. The alleged dissentions have only existed in the brains of emigrants and malicious, anti-German journalists. The march goes forward. We follow our Fuehrer!"

HEAVY STORMS IN EUROPE

Shipping Casualties

Lisbon, Jan. 30.
The Brazilian steamer "Santos" should reach Lisbon by its own power, after having cruised off the coast for some days in the heavy seas. It is stated that the Portuguese tanker "Percula" is in distress, while another message states that 33 trawlers sank in the harbour of Leixoes. The total damage caused by the heavy gales off the Portuguese coast is said to have reached the mark of several million pesos. A further report states that the ocean going tugboat from Gibraltar has left the harbour to stand by in order to help the British steamer "Ternusen", which beached near Setubal with a crew of 23 men on board.

CARNIVAL POSTPONED

Nice, Jan. 29.
One of the consequences of the heavy storms raging in the Mediterranean is that the traditional Carnival, which is yearly celebrated here with great pomp, had to be postponed. Here, and in Cannes, traffic on the chief seaside boulevard is interrupted due to the unusually high level of the water. The same is the case in the majority of other French Riviera towns.

NATIONAL AVIATION IN SYRIA

Jerusalem, Jan. 30.
The latest manifestation of nationalism in Syria is the formation in Damascus of a "Committee for the promotion of National Aviation." Collections for a National Aviation Fund will commence at once, and all Syrian state officials will contribute a part of their salary to this purpose.

SPANISH SHIP SEIZED

Paris, Jan. 29.
Spanish Nationalist warships intercepted and seized the Red Spanish ship "Aljondra" with a cargo of 650 tons grain on board. Although the steamer summoned aid telegraphically and airplanes were sent by the Red Government, the capture of the ship and its being taken into Santander could not be prevented.

BULLET-PROOF POLICE CAR

Tests By Scotland Yard

A fast armoured car with loopholes for guns and glass two inches thick is being tested by officials of the Criminal Investigation Department at Scotland Yard, writes a London correspondent. The car, an eight-cylinder saloon, is equipped with spaces in the windows through which guns could be used from a pivot.
Such armament, however, is not being considered seriously by Scotland Yard officials. I was assured that "there is no question of American methods being introduced to the British police force."
What did appeal to the examiners was the car's speed and its bullet-proof protection.
At the same time, tests were carried out with a new type of wireless car. With this vehicle it would be possible to communicate over a certain area with other cars by wireless telephony instead of Morse.

UKRAINE UNREST

Warsaw, Jan. 30.
That the National Separatist movement in the Ukraine has of late gained enormously in strength is an observation made by the Moscow correspondent of the "Iltustrovany Kurier Codzenny" during a tour of the southern parts of the Soviet Union. The correspondent states that numerous members of the Ukrainian Communist party were arrested because of having had dealings with the separatists Kociubinski and Bukchovany. They are also accused of having been in contact with Colonel Konovalec, who, according to the Soviet authorities, pursues the aim to separate the Ukraine from Soviet Union and bring it under German control. The correspondent believes that a number of political trials will shortly be staged in the Ukraine to show the inhabitants that "they are misinterpreting the liberties promised under the new Soviet Constitution."

ANGOLA SALE TALK REFUTED

Lisbon, Jan. 29.
In its turn the Portuguese Government on Friday published a statement refuting the rumours of it having sold whole or part of Portuguese Angola to Germany. The Government emphatically states that there can be no question of Portugal parting with any of her colonial possessions.

GERMANY AND SPAIN

New Trade Agreement To Be Discussed

Salamanca, Jan. 29.
In order to adapt the commercial relations between Germany and Nationalist Spain to the present situation, economic experts of the two Governments will meet, to discuss the possibility of a new agreement between Germany and Spain. As the previous treaties were concluded with the Madrid Government, which is no longer recognised by Germany, the legal point will also have to be examined. The first negotiations will have to show whether time is already ripe for a definite agreement.

CHAMPAGNE WALTZ

A perfect evening's entertainment is provided by "Champagne Waltz," at the Queen's, Alhambra and Star Theatres to-day. Even Gladys Swarthout's excellent singing is not the major feature, as the film also includes humour, a touch of pathos, and some of the most delightful music heard from the screen for many a long while. The film includes some amazing scenic effects showing a classical and dance orchestra playing two different tunes at the same time, and producing a most pleasing effect. Throughout the picture there runs an entertaining plot which places Fred MacMurray in the position of a dance band leader masquerading as an American consul in order to deceive the charming singer, Gladys Swarthout, whose wrath is justly aroused by the band's rivalry to her father's orchestra. Miss Swarthout sings some intriguing new numbers with her usual ability, and the musical background to the picture is provided by several Strauss waltzes. Jack Oakie, as the manager of the dance band, is not touch enough to see through the wiles of an engaging Russian countess, is well able to supply the humorous episodes, in which Herman Bing also occasionally takes a hand. "Champagne Waltz" is distinctly above the average run of pictures, and would be worth seeing for the music alone.

BORN TO DANCE

That peculiarly rhythmic tapping sound which is being heard all over town to-day is merely the echo of Eleanor Powell who once again clinches her title of the world's greatest feminine tap dancer in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical spectacle, "Born to Dance," showing at the King's Theatre to-day.

Miss Powell, who first won praise from critics and film audiences alike in "Broadway Melody of 1936," is a delight to behold, a pleasure to listen to and tremendous treat to lovers of dancing in any form. In her first pictures she proved her versatility by switching from tap dancing to ballet; in "Born to Dance" she introduces a bewildering array of routines, including even an original version of the current popular "Swing" tempo.

In its music, production value and dazzling array of supporting talent "Born to Dance" in every way lives up to the light standards set by its brilliant dancing star. The songs, written by Cole Porter of "You're the Top" and "Night and Day" fame, are of the type that once heard linger on the ear for weeks after. The romantic "Easy to Love" the haunting "I've Got You Under My Skin," the catchy "Swinging the Jinx Away," and the lilting waltz number, "Hey, Babe, Hey," are songs that everyone will be whistling and humming for weeks to come.

In its magnificent settings, eye-filling ensembles, every one of whose dancers must be a beauty-prize winner, the interesting naval backgrounds and the general luxury of the proceedings, the picture is definitely in the tradition of "The Great Ziegfeld." Dave Gould did a brilliant job of supervising the dances and the direction of Roy Del Ruth adds immeasurably to the success of the whole.

The story of "Born to Dance" involves the romance of a small-town girl who falls in love with a navy man and almost loses him to a show girl. James Stewart is the Navy man, and Virginia Bruce gives an outstanding portrayal as the temperamental show girl. Also scoring in a top-notch supporting cast are Una Merkel and Sid Silvers furnishing laughs galore, Frances Langford of radio fame, Raymond Walburn, Alan Dinehart and Buddy Ebsen, the eccentric comedy dancer who scored in "Broadway Melody of 1936."

Not only does the picture sing some intriguing new numbers with her usual ability, and the musical background to the picture is provided by several Strauss waltzes. Jack Oakie, as the manager of the dance band, is not touch enough to see through the wiles of an engaging Russian countess, is well able to supply the humorous episodes, in which Herman Bing also occasionally takes a hand. "Champagne Waltz" is distinctly above the average run of pictures, and would be worth seeing for the music alone.

MR. MELLON'S ART GIFT

National Gallery For U.S.A.

The announcement has been made to the American people by the publication of letters exchanged between Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, a former Secretary to the Treasury and a former Ambassador in London, and President Roosevelt that Mr. Mellon is willing to build and endow a National Gallery of Art in Washington which shall house his magnificent collection now offered to the country as a free gift, and as the "nucleus of a great national collection."

My collection, Mr. Mellon announced, is representative of most of the great masters of Western Europe and includes outstanding works of art which I acquired from the Hermitage Gallery in Russia. It also contains Renaissance sculptures, including most of those formerly in the Dreyfuss Collection in Paris; and there is in addition a large assemblage of American portraits from the Clarke and other collections which would be suitable for a National Portrait Gallery.

The value of this extraordinary gift is on a plane above figures, but the works of art have cost Mr. Mellon $4,000,000, and Lord Dunsen said that they were worth at least £10,000,000. A sum of roughly £2,000,000 is to be devoted to the erection of a building on the north side of the Mall.

Pictures From Russia

The collection has been made over the past 35 years. Six years ago Mr. Mellon bought from the Soviet Government 15 pictures, of which five rank among the world's greatest masterpieces—Raphael's "Alba Madonna," Botticelli's "Adoration of the Magi," Perugino's Triptych, "The Crucifixion," with St. Jerome, Van Eyck's "Annunciation," and Titian's "Toilet of Venus." About the same time he acquired Raphael's "Madonna and Child," known as the Cowper or Niccolini Madonna, from Panzhang House, and from England also came magnificent examples of Reynolds, Gainsborough, Lawrence, Romney, Turner, Constable, and others.

No individual, say authorities on the subject, has ever assembled so great a collection. Holbein's "Prince Edward" is there, Goya's "Marquise de Pontefios," Rembrandt's "Self Portrait," El Greco's "St. Ildefonso," Raphael's "St. George and the Dragon," Titian's "Madonna and Child," with the infant St. John in the landscape, Vermeer's "Girl with the Red Hat," and his "Lacemaker," Van der Weyden's "Portrait of a Lady," and infinite riches more. It will be for Congress, on the President's recommendation, to accept the gift and then the building of the Gallery will begin.

King Sees Mint's Deputy Master

New Coins By May 12

Before returning, with the Queen, to Sandringham on January 13, the King received Col. Sir Robert Johnson, Deputy Master of the Mint, at Buckingham Palace. His Majesty discussed with him the designs for the new coinage. An official of the Mint said that no final decision has as yet been made on the design, but that Sir Robert informed the King that it was hoped to issue the new coins by May 12, the date of the Coronation.

His Majesty gave a sitting at Sandringham recently to the portrait modellers to the Royal Mint, Mr. P. Metcalfe and Mr. T. H. Paget. They are now preparing that plaques, from one of which the models of the new coins will be designed. The journey of the King and Queen to Sandringham was a slow one. Leaving Liverpool Street Station at 2.40, the train to which the Royal saloon was attached arrived at Wolverton, the station for Sandringham, at 5.25. On the way it stopped at eight stations—Bishop's Cleeve, Audley End, Cambridge, Ely, Littleport, Downham, King's Lynn and North Wootton.

SANCIAN ISLAND

Brilliant Broadcast Address

"Why Go To Sancian Island" was the subject of the broadcast talk, given by the Very Rev. Paul Amy, S. J., of New York, who is one of the delegates to the Eucharistic Conference in Manila, over Z.B.W. on Saturday evening.

In the course of his talk, the speaker said, in part:—
My radio audience and perhaps many members of the cruise party about to sail on the "Empress of Russia," may ask the question, "Why go to Sancian Island?" That question might be asked with the stress on the first word "why," implying simple curiosity and making an honest inquiry as to the purpose of this apparently out-of-the-way journey. Others might ask the question stressing the last word "Sancian Island," implying that the little island off the coast of China is far too insignificant for any wise traveller to be bothered with.

It is a small and rocky mass somewhat similar in size and shape to the Island of Hong Kong but of far less importance in that it has a population of only about 5,000 which population has made Sancian its home for perhaps not more than 100 years. All honest inquirers and sceptical visitors feeling that they know the real facts concerning Sancian, realise that they are visiting an empty tomb.

St. Francis Xavier
I have spoken of an empty tomb—I have spoken of Saint Francis Xavier. Who is this man and what has an empty tomb to do with him. Francis Xavier, a noble Spaniard born in the 15th century, early in that century journeyed to Paris armed with an ambition and from his ancestral home in Spain in quest of a goal—the conquest of intellectual Europe. Having completed his undergraduate and graduate studies at the University of Paris, Francis Xavier was acclaimed one of the leading dons and professors of that university. It was not long before Xavier appreciated the value of one soul and resolved to give himself to a career of conquest, a conquest of souls rather than the conquest of minds.

Amazing Travels
In the ten years he spent in the Orient he travelled a total distance of more than 75,000 miles, equivalent to a triple circumnavigation of the earth. 75,000 miles travelled in 10 years and approximately a million souls baptized with his own hand.

But ten hundred thousand souls was not sufficient for this man. He wanted more to present to his Divine Master and so toward the end of the year 1552, Francis Xavier landed on the Island of Sancian. The spirit was willing but the flesh was weak and at Sancian this Noble Xavier came to realize that his Divine Master was satisfied with the conquests he had made and desired no more in the way of labour and effort from him before his years of toil brought to him the crown of eternal glory.

On the island there were with Francis Xavier only two companions, Antonio, a Chinese Christian and Christopher, a Malabar Indian. He was stricken with a death dealing fever but there was nothing they could do for Xavier except try to comfort him. They watched as Xavier, with Crucifix raised aloft and turned in the direction of China blessed that land as the soul of the man went forth from the body.

The Message
Why are we going to Sancian? We are going to Sancian to be in-

Plans For The Coronation

The Illuminations Sub-Committee in connection with the local celebrations for the Coronation held its first meeting last week when a general discussion took place on numerous points raised.

With regard to illuminations in the New Territories, it was decided to ask the sub-committee handling this matter to report on likely costs.

It was reported by the Chairman, Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, that similar illuminations in Victoria to those at the Silver Jubilee would cost $10,000, an increase of about $3,000. It was decided to write to the Government asking its ideas on the schemes for illuminations and decorations.

VALEDICTORY

Rev. F.C.H. Tribbeck Leaving

The Rev. F.C.H. Tribbeck, the Minister of the English Methodist Church, Wanchai, and President of the Sailors and Soldiers Home, who is shortly leaving the Colony, arrived here in the early part of November, 1931, accompanied by his wife and baby son.

Mr. Tribbeck was born in the South of England, and is from Richmond College, University of London. He was formerly a member of the 7th Sarum Troop of Boy Scouts. As a Scout he gained fifteen proficiency badges.

He served in the Great War as an Assistant Scoutmaster, and was then still quite a young man. Mr. Tribbeck began his career in the ministry in 1923, when he took up an Army Chaplaincy in Tidworth Camp. There he played in a hockey match between Officers and N.C.O's. Later, he became Chaplain to the Forces at Chatham, but before taking up this duty he worked in a parish at Salisbury. After Chatham, Mr. Tribbeck took up an appointment at the Central Hall in Manchester.

Of a genial disposition, both Mr. Tribbeck and his wife will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends.

Concert At St. Stephen's College

Mr. Gerald Sydney, the well-known professor of singing elocution, gave an instructive recital on Saturday at St. Stephen's Girls' School.

He spoke of "music as an art" saying "it was considered the greatest of the arts, inasmuch as it had the most universal appeal" and played some delightful piano solos.

The Head Mistress (Miss Wise) congratulated Mr. Sydney at the conclusion of the programme and particularly recommended the girls to take notice of some valuable advice he gave them with regard to their voices.

He repeated this concert in the evening at St. Stephen's Boys' School. However at the evening performance he had the assistance of Mr. Li Chor Chi who sang exceptionally well and proved a great attraction.

WEDDINGS ANNOUNCED

spired and fired with something of the love for God and man that permeated the soul and spirit of St. Francis Xavier, priest of the Society of Jesus, that when we leave and later carry on, each his own avocation in life, we may live with less of selfishness and more of love so that in death, though our bodies may not be preserved from corruption as was St. Francis Xavier's at least the memory of noble deeds well done for love of God will live on to inspire others to follow in our footsteps.

CANTON TO CALAIS BY RAILWAY

Rolling Stock Due Here Soon

One of the largest consignments of railway rolling stock which is for the use of the new Canton-Hankow railway, is on its way to Hong Kong on board a British steamer.

It will be put into immediate use when it arrives, and a date will be fixed for the official opening of the service.

The service provides the Hong Kong and Canton link on the route, via Siberia, to Europe, the longest railway in the world.

The shipment of British rolling stock now en route to Hong Kong comprises first and second class pulling and ordinary carriages, sleeping carriages and dining saloons.

It was purchased with funds from the British portion of the Boxer Indemnity.

Passengers may at present travel from Hong Kong to Calais by rail, but until the official opening of the service they do so at their own risk.

When the service is officially opened, the transit time from Hong Kong to London will be reduced to less than a fortnight.

Volunteers For Spain

British Government Restriction

The following is published in the "Government Gazette":—

Information has recently reached His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom which indicates that attempts are made in that country to recruit persons for service with forces of one or other of the contending parties in Spain. His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom desire to call attention to the fact that the provisions of the Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870, and in particular sections 4 and 5, are applicable in the case of the present conflict in Spain. It is accordingly an offence for any British subject within or without His Majesty's dominions to accept or agree to accept any commission or engagement in the military, naval or air force services of either party to the present conflict or for any person, whether a British subject or not, within His Majesty's dominions, to induce any other person to accept or agree to accept any such commission or engagement. It is also an offence for any British subject to leave or attempt to leave His Majesty's dominions with the intention of accepting any such commission or engagement, or for any person, whether a British subject or not, within His Majesty's dominions, to induce any other person so to do.

Any person contravening these provisions is liable on conviction to imprisonment up to 2 years or to a fine or to both fine and imprisonment.

The Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870, applies to British Subjects everywhere; and to foreign subjects within His Majesty's dominions including the adjacent territorial waters. It was proclaimed in the Colony of Hong Kong on the 3rd October, 1870.

"We Stand Before A Great Achievement"

I remember I said once before on another occasion that in our very early days here, the Government modified certain of their established regulations and framed special ones to suit these works, a procedure which enormously lightened our work and greatly accelerated the construction. I can conceive of no happier position to be in as far as work is concerned than that in which we have been placed, because of the confidence given to us by those for whom we all have worked.

"A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT"
Mr. J. E. Binnie then gave an interesting outline of the engineering problems involved in the construction of the dam, following which H.E. the Governor unveiled the tablet to commemorate the completion of the work and said, inter alia:—

We stand this afternoon before a great achievement; before, in fact, the highest dam that has ever been erected beneath the British flag.

With us are standing the man who conceived it, the man who designed it and the man who has built it; we are very proud of it, and of them. Perhaps indeed we may be pardoned for a little jealousy of them; for to the engineer and the architect it is given in a greater measure than to men of other professions to see the results of their labours; of them the words that the author of the first chapter of Genesis wrote of the Creator can be truly spoken; they see everything that they have made and, behold, it is very good.

On the stone which I am about to unveil are inscribed the Latin words "Nil Dominus Frustra" which mean that however well and strongly we have built this dam we humbly depend upon Heaven's bounteous rain to fill it.

Some to whom I am now speaking are not dwellers amongst us but are our distinguished guests from neighbouring Territories. To them I can say on behalf of this Colony that, however short we may find ourselves again in material waters, there is one spirit that we will never allow to fail and that is the deep well of friendship.

ship to our neighbours. I thank our visitors very cordially for honouring us with their presence this afternoon and I hope that they will bear away with them the pleasantest memories of this ceremony.

HIGHEST IN BRITISH EMPIRE
The reservoir is formed by two dams, one known as the Shing Mun Dam and the other as Pineapple Pass Dam. Shing Mun Dam is believed to be the highest in the British Empire, being 280 feet from river bed to crest.

The story of the building of the reservoir will go down in the annals of engineering feats. Construction was begun in 1933 when an access road, three miles long, was built to reach the site of the dam. Coolie lines for 2,500 workmen, bungalows for European staff, water supply, sanitation, hospital and work buildings, were rapidly built.

LOSS OF LIVES

Considerable anxiety was caused by heavy floods in the early stages of the work and while no actual damage to the works resulted, several lives were lost by drowning. In spite of every reasonable, and in some cases unusually elaborate, precautions to prevent accidents, 34 men, including one European, lost their lives on duty.

The reservoir was completed at a cost of approximately $8,000,000 and the work was partly done by direct labour and partly by sub-contract. The construction was financed and carried out by the Hong Kong Government by direct administration through the Resident Engineer, Mr. G. B. Gifford Hall.

The possibility of using the Shing Mun stream as a source of water supply was originally studied by the Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson, the present Director of Public Works, about ten years ago. However, the scheme was not adopted until 1931 when Messrs. Binnie, Deacon and Gourley, of London, were consulted regarding it. They were appointed Engineers in 1932 and by the end of that year plans of the works were sufficiently far advanced to enable preliminary work to be started.

Australian "Goodwill Ambassador" Leaves

Mr. W. M. Gray, the Secretary of the Austral-Asiatic Section of the Victorian Division of the Australian Institute of International Affairs, who had been on a brief visit to this Colony, left for Australia on Saturday.

Mr. Gray went on a round-world tour in July, in the interest of the Institute. He was present at the conference which was held recently at Yosemite, in the United States, where he met the British and American representatives of the Bureau of Scientific Relations. He then went on to New York and London, and has since been on an extensive tour of China, Japan, Manchukuo and Korea, with a view to making contacts in those centres.

Section of the Institute is to acquaint Australians with their neighbours in the Pacific area. Up to the present, the Institute has devoted its time chiefly to international affairs, but the Austral-Asiatic Section has been created purely for the study of affairs in the Pacific basin.

Mr. Gray, who incidentally, was born in Japan, has not been in the Far East for 18 years until now. He is particularly impressed with the growth of Hong Kong and with the stability and efficiency of the Government there. He was in the capital at the time of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's detention in Nanking, and what struck him most, he says, was the calm and dignified manner in which the Government officials carried on their routine duties during the crisis.

FULCRUM

"PLI-SHAFT" MODELS

During the past season we have been carrying out extensive tests with frames constructed on a still more advanced principle, which is only made possible by the "FULCRUM" process of building frames in block form. Briefly, this new frame has no handle slips at all. Every joint is parallel to the line of play, with the result that exceptional resiliency and extra drive are obtained from the shaft. Under the normal construction the shaft is, of course, locked by the handle slips and the shock of impact is largely taken by the shoulders of the frames and, of course, the gut. In our "Pli-shaft" construction however, the shock is absorbed by the whole of the shaft as well, with the result that not only are the shoulders (always the weakest part of the racket) relieved of some of the strain, but additional resiliency is obtained as well. Experience is rapidly leading us to conclude that the design of a racket along these lines represents one of the greatest advances which has ever taken place in the evolution of the tennis racket.

News And The Radio

In the art of presenting news, proportion and perspective, allied to accuracy of fact, are the marks of skill and the standards of credit.

Distortion and wrong emphasis impart a degree of falseness, and it is no light undertaking to gain knowledge of facts and to distribute the information without prejudice or bias. The separation of a fact or a group of facts from their natural association may set a thing that is itself true in an untrue position and be misrepresentation.

News values may be genuine or meretricious and are always relative. An event or a movement, or even an opinion, can have a different value on one day from what it would have on another solely because of other events, movements, or opinions that are claiming attention on that day; and the distributor of news may not always possess the presence or discernment to set them in their rightful place and order.

The imparting of wrong values to news need not be wilful; it may come of inexperience, slovenliness, or sheer bad judgment. In the valuation of news—or at any rate of the lesser news—there is no absolute standard; and varieties of taste and feeling are as pronounced in this as in every other art.

So there cannot be a fixed moral standard by which to test all news and the presentation of it. Selection of news of one shade or colour betrays a bias or a propagandist purpose, and the force of iteration is immense; but the appeal of prejudiced news is mainly to ignorance. The excuse for a conscious bias—that there is not room for all the news and all the truth and that a part needs more emphasis than the whole—is an admission of the need for another and counter-acting source of supply.

There is no means of measuring the persistent effects of news and its manner of presentation on an individual or a people. News is more and more a part of the daily lives and routine of men and women and even children. They read it in their daily paper; they hear it broadcast on the air and they see it pictorially as part of their entertainment. Presently it may be broadcast visually. It travels faster; its percussion and repercussion is more violent. It is more voluminous.

A good wireless receiving set will any day tap the common news of the whole world. The wireless is the greatest medium for the circulation of news in this or any other country. Here wireless news is agency news. It is reduced to broadcasting form in the broadcasting headquarters, but the raw material is supplied. It aims at being impartial and knows no conscious bias.

Yet how easily news may take on a wrong cast was pointed out by Mr. F. W. Leggett, of the Ministry of Labour, when talking the other day on the diffusion of

H. K. RIFLE ASSOCN.

Week-End Spoon And Practice Shoot

A Spoon & Practice Shoot was held on Saturday afternoon last by permission of the Naval authorities on their range at Stonecutters. Conditions were definitely unfavourable, the light being extremely poor throughout, while the wind varied both in strength and direction. In spite of these handicaps, a member of the Dockyard Rifle Club, who only took up the "Blaise" type of shooting this season, won the "net" spoon in the S.R. (b) Class with a score of 95; this was Mr. H. W. Cory who wins this spoon for the first time, and who three weeks ago, won the "handicap" spoon in the same class.

The winner of the "handicap" spoon in this Class was Corporal C. Singh of the Hong Kong Police Force, and the cure which has been taken in the compilation of the handicap tables, is shown by the fact that this member who made a net score of 91, and who had a handicap of 4, beats the member taking second place, who made a net score of 94, with a handicap of 3.

Only a comparatively short time ago was the Dockyard Rifle Club issued with a certain number of "1914" rifles, and it is not without significance that, as will be seen from the detailed results given below, five out of the eleven names which appear therein are those of members of this particular Club.

On Saturday next, the Dockyard R.C. and, indeed, the Association as well, loses the support and services of one who is not only a keen rifle shot himself, but who, at all times, has given both organizations material help when required. At the moment Mr. Johnson is Honorary Secretary of the rifle section of the Dockyard R.C., while in addition he has done yeoman service for the Association particularly in the case of the annual dinner, held last December, when, with the other members of the special committee appointed to organize that function, he devoted much of his spare time towards ensuring that the event should be an outstanding success.

The leading scores made on Saturday afternoon last are as follows:—

S.R. (b).
A.H. 200 500 600 Ttl.
yds. yds. yds.

Mr. H. W. Cory 1 33 32 30 95

Mr. T. J. Boulton 3 32 29 33 94

S.M. Hill 2 35 31 34

Sig. W. Edwards 2 30 33 31 94

C.P.O. Fellow 2 30 31 31 92

Sgt. Blandford 2 31 30 31 92

Mr. C. Watson 1 31 32 29 92

Cpl. B573 P. Singh 3 30 30 31 91

Cpl. B763 C. Singh 3 31 30 30 91

Mr. W. Austin 3 30 32 28 90

Mr. G. H. Lakeman 3 32 32 26 90

A.H.—Ash handicap.

—Denotes that the S.R. (b) rifle was used. All other competitors used the "1914" rifle.

—Denotes the winner of the net spoon.

—Denotes the winner of the handicap spoon.

There were insufficient S.R. (a) entries to allow of a spoon being awarded.

NOTE.—The handicap of each winner has been reduced by one point as shown. This procedure applies to all S.R. (a) and S.R. (b) Spoon Shoots.

(Owing to pressure on space, the report of a Council meeting of the H.K.R.A. is held over).

industrial news. The fact of a minor dispute or strike made known by broadcast is, by the very fact of the broadcast, taken out of its true perspective. Broadcasting, as Mr. Leggett said, gives news a "front page" position and a relatively trifling bit of bother gets bruited abroad with untruthful truthfulness. The next morning's paper will no doubt track the same fact away in another and more accurate appraisal of its significance, but the broadcast effect is not lost.

News, unless well controlled, tends to get out of hand like that. The recording of strikes is easier than the recording of the normal condition of industry, which is peace. Crime, it may be said, claims more publicity

Success Of The U.S.R.C.

(BY PRUDENCE)

I looked in at the U.S.R.C. last Sunday and found the place was simply packed, the reason for this activity being that an American Tournament was in progress. These all-day affairs are always very cheery, and that is probably one of the reasons why the U.S.R.C. is one of the most popular Clubs in the Colony.

When I arrived I found forty-four people busily sorting themselves into couples, after which everyone made a bee-line for the courts and settled down to the serious business of finding and challenging opponents. I could not help being struck by the fact that the whole affair was marvellously planned and organized. (Doubtless the reason why everyone enjoyed it so much.) There is no doubt too, that automatic-handicapping has come to stay, for it is the only completely satisfactory method of enabling players, good, bad or indifferent, to meet and play against each other on fair and equal terms.

Last Sunday there were so many entries that matches were divided into two sections, the winners of each section meeting in the final. The winners of A Section were Mrs. Grant Oliver and Mr. O. C. Womack. The former is a sister of the Rev. Lewis Bryan, (whose amusing and delightful talks on the radio are still remembered by his many fans, although it must be at least two years since he went away.) B Section was won by Mrs. Richards and Mr. Eric Grimble who carried off first place after a well-fought final, and they were presented with a silver photograph-frame and silver tankard respectively while the runners-up were consoled with a silver sweet dish and most attractive ash-tray. The hidden number prize went to Mrs. Ronnie Childs and her partner.

"LOVELIES"
There were such a lot of local "lovelies" there I don't suppose I saw half of them, but I did notice Mrs. Sullivan looking very beautiful, and Mrs. Shirley (who plays a remarkably strong game) and Mrs. Whitman, and Mrs. Radcliffe both looking quite charming. Minna Whitman was there of course. I wonder when she will go back to Z.B.W. again? She has such a lovely speaking-voice it was always a pleasure to listen to her announcements, and she made the duller news seem interesting. Joan Baker was there, too, and

THE STORY OF THE FALL

The Rev. H. W. Baines preached the sermon at St. John's Cathedral yesterday. He said, in part:—
The story which was read at the first Lesson this morning from Genesis III is called The Story of the Fall.

The story belongs to that one among the authors of the first five books of the Old Testament, generally known as "J." The story is based on the ancient Babylonian myth framed to account for human mortality which the Hebrews probably brought with them from their Mesopotamian home. According to this myth, there was in the "Fields of the Blessed" a Tree whose fruit conveyed immortality from death.

It was intended for man, but the serpent, always regarded by the ancients as uncannily wise, got there first and so cheated man of his brightness. In the story it was a Tree which bore the temptation before which the woman fell. In the God-made sequel it was the Cross of wood and the crown of wooden thorns which bore the means of our Redemption. This is God's way: to take evil and convert it by the power of loving suffering into good.

than the observance of the law; but in the manifold news of the law activities of people in all spheres, from politics to sport, there is the daily witness to good government and respect for ordinances.

There is no golden rule for news, though just sometimes it is silence that is golden and not publication. All that can be hoped for is a love of truth, an eye for perspective, and a sense of proportion.

If Gossip We Must

Miss Anne Winter, who took the part of Teresa in the Philharmonic Society's "Maid of the Mountains." (Radio Studio).

prettier than ever. She only came out here just before Xmas, but already is "one of us" as she seems to go everywhere and know everyone. Another newswoman is Phyllis Churston, who has a splendid service and hits a hard ball all the time.

The gardens were looking very nice and were full of bright flowers, but it was just a bit too chilly for tea out-of-doors, so after the tournament we all adjourned to the Clubhouse where we devoured delicious cakes and savoury sandwiches, and drank lashings of hot tea, not to mention stronger fluids!

St. George's Ball

(BY ONLOOKER)

Yet another St. George's Ball is a thing of the past!

It is amazing the way we English people rally round and go "all British" on these national occasions. All sorts of "stay-at-homes" who ordinarily never leave their comfortable armchairs, rouse up, don their best bibs and tuckers, and rally forth to the merry scene at the top of the Peninsula Hotel. Special congratulations are due to those who were responsible for the decorations this year. The whole Hotel was a blaze of welcoming light as we arrived, and the enormous coloured picture of St. George over the dias in the Rose Room, inspired much patriotic jollity, even though the Dragon was missing.

BEAUTIFUL GOWNING
If I attempted to describe all the lovely visions of femininity I saw this column would become merely a list of names and fashions. Of course, everybody looked their best, and all the people we know—as well as quantities of people we did not know—were there in full force. This charming new fashion of flowers in the hair is very pleasant, and a change from the everlasting bandos of a season ago; Mrs. Cavanagh-Mainwaring wore a delicious tight little posey in her fair curls with striking success—a perfect finish to her slim, sea green appearance.

Mrs. Compton was very handsome in that lovely new midnight blue, and Mrs. Grosman's dress of much the same shade had a most attractive little sequin coat to match.

Mrs. Prentiss in pale green and silver looked as charming as ever, and I loved Mrs. Bryden's simple pink taffeta gown.

On these "uniform" occasions it is so important to choose colours which do not clash with those of your partner, and shades of scarlet are most effective if you are apt to dance with members of the services. Mrs. Mike Turner, who has recently returned from Home, looked wonderful in a gorgeous shade of what I would describe as pale scarlet, and I thought Mrs. Swinburne's scarlet and gold most effective.

Alas for this tempus fugit business! It makes one feel very old seeing more and more of these young things returning from Home after an interval of education looking completely soigné and grown up. Miss Kittah Butterfield is another recent addition to the new batch of "young lovelies." She wore black velvet with cire satin with unqualified success.

Another outstanding dress was worn by Mrs. Vyner Gordon—pure white with diamante touches, and Mrs. Keith Valentine was a perfect study in daisies: a daisy pattern all over her full tulle gown, daisy shoulder straps, and daisies in her becomingly dressed hair!

Mrs. Croucher—as usual—contributed an interesting item to the gorgeous gowning: brown taffeta, with rainbow godets of green, blue, and yellow at the back. Miss Peggy Humphreys looked charming in a gown of brown and green, of exquisite line.

These are only a few of the outstanding dresses which caught the eye of your ever watchful Onlooker—there were many more lovely and interesting effects I can assure you, and everybody looked so happy and gay dancing under the benign eye of the brave St. George.

INTERPORT FOOTBALL

Lee Wai Tong will captain the team with Campbell as vice-captain.

New Interport caps are Pau Ka Ping, Campbell, Evans, Yeung Shui Yick, and Wilson.

Gosans will be playing for Hong Kong in the Interport series against the North for the twelfth time. He was selected last year but could not obtain the necessary leave to travel to Shanghai.

Lee Wai Tong, Leung Wing Chiu and Bickford were members of the team that defeated Shanghai in the North last year. Beltrao and Talbot were also members of the eleven.

COMMENT

The choice of Andy Wilson, of the Club, at inside-left, will no doubt come as a great surprise to followers in view of his poor performances both in the Governor's Cup match and in yesterday's game. But on the other hand, Wilson has been playing consistently well in League matches during the season.

Talbot played brilliantly yesterday and his display warranted inclusion.

Campbell and Evans thoroughly deserve their positions in the intermediate line which with Leung Wing Chiu, at right-half, forms a most formidable trio.

Stevens, who has been selected as a reserve full back, played very well yesterday.

Yeung Fung, Lee and Bickford were certainlies for the forward line.

The passing over of David Leonard (St. Joseph's) from the attack is another surprise.

Beltrao, who is a reserve half-back, has not been so steady on recent form and on yesterday's display Campbell was definitely better.

Office Boy Stabbed And Robbed

Attacked In Lavatory

A daring robbery was committed last Friday morning when Pau Kau, 23, an office boy employed by Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., was stabbed no less than five times by a thief who eventually ran off with $350.

The boy was sent to the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank to cash a cheque for $350. From his story, Pau was leaving the Bank premises when he was accosted by a man who wished to borrow the sum of $50. The loan was not granted and he kept on his way to Queen's Building.

Pau went into the lavatory and it was there that he was stabbed twice in the right thigh. He recognised his assailant as the man who had wanted to borrow the $50. In the ensuing struggle, Pau was struck three other times, and the money was extracted from his inside pocket.

The wounds were superficial and Pau remained in the lavatory until he was found by an office assistant to whom he related the tale of the robbery. Pau was then taken to the Government Civil Hospital and detained.

McGRATH WINS

Sydney, Jan. 30.

Vivian McGrath won the Australian tennis championship to-day, after a thrilling fluctuating five-set match.

The unsuccessful finalist was John Bromwich, who put up a keen fight, but failed to hold his ground when McGrath set up a devastating attack in the fifth set.

The scores in McGrath's favour were: 6-3, 1-6, 6-0, 2-6, 8-1.

COMMENT ON HERR HITLER'S SPEECH

Marking Time Rather Than Advancing Matters

Tepid Reception In France: Full Approval In Italy

London, January 30. Marking time rather than advancing matters is the general impression of Herr Hitler's speech in London this evening. The pronouncement that the era of surprises is over is regarded as excellent so far as it goes, but it is observed that the era of collaboration has seemingly not yet begun.

While the polite tone of the speech is noted, it is remarked that Herr Hitler, dealt somewhat vaguely with specific points in Mr. Eden's recent Commons speech in regard to a general European settlement, for example Mr. Eden's point that all nations must be accepted as potential partners seems to have been answered by reaffirmation of Germany's unalterable antagonism to Bolshevism and reversion to that doctrine of two blocs which has not been accepted elsewhere, even by Signor Mussolini.—Reuter.

FRENCH RECEPTION

Paris, Jan. 30. The reception to Herr Hitler's speech here generally is of a very tepid nature, though as an apparent reply to M. Blum's recent Lyons speech it will receive due study.

The speech is described as more moderate, than earlier pronouncements and should lead to clarification of the international position.

Definite proposals for a readjustment which were hopefully anticipated were not forthcoming, but France is glad to hear Hitler's reiteration that the bone of Franco-German contention is buried.—Reuter.

PARIS COMMENT

Paris, Jan. 30. Commenting on Hitler's speech which it publishes under the sub-heading "Germany revokes admission of war guilt," "Le Temps" asks whether Germany now, after having regained equality rights, is prepared to begin fruitful negotiations. The paper believes that the Chancellor's speech "contains definite statements which will certainly be examined with the greatest attention in other European countries and which will prove a turning point in European politics."—Reuter.

ITALIAN ENDORSEMENT

Rome, Jan. 30. Hitler's speech was relayed by the Italian broadcasting stations which followed up the original version with a translation. The declaration appears to have made a profound impression here judging from the remarks of the "man in the street."

Evening papers reprinted long excerpts from the speech but so far refrained from editorial comment. As elsewhere a passage of the speech in which Hitler declared the German signature in the war guilt clause to be invalid was given especial prominence in the press. Other papers featured the offer of guarantee of inviolability to the Belgian and Dutch territory and his assurance that Germany was willing to co-operate with other nations.

CORONATION REVIEW AT SPITHEAD

London, Jan. 31. It is learned that the Home Fleet has now taken over the duties recently performed by the Mediterranean Fleet in the Spanish area.

It is officially announced that eighteen battleships and two destroyer flotillas of the Mediterranean Fleet will figure in the Coronation review at Spithead on May 20 at which the Home Fleet and reserve units will participate.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

KUNG MAY ATTEND CORONATION

Shanghai, Jan. 30. The Minister of Finance, Dr. H. H. Kung, announced to-day that he may go to London to attend the coronation of King George VI. He added that he had been probably accompanied by the Mayor of Greater Shanghai, General Wu Teh-chen, and the veteran member of the Central Executive Committee, Mr. Wu Shih-hui.

Dr. Kung told reporters that owing to ill health he had been hoping for an opportunity to take a trip abroad.—Reuter.

MOSCOW TRIAL ALLEGATIONS

Fierce Attack By Leon Trotsky

Mexico City, Jan. 31. "I offer to present my files and thousands of other documents to an international commission in order to cleanse the atmosphere of the terms of deceit, calumny and frame-up," declared Leon Trotsky in an interview at which he fiercely attacked the organisers of the Moscow trial.

Trotsky added that this trial was not the end. "The genuine trial of the organisers of the frame-up was only beginning. We will conduct it to a finish, although the proceedings in Moscow resembled the delirium of typhoid fever."—Reuter.

COURT'S VERDICT

Moscow, Jan. 30. Death by shooting was the sentence passed on thirteen of the accused.

Radek, Sokolnikoff and Arnold have been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, and Strolloff to eight years.

This verdict came as a big surprise. It was expected that all the accused would be sentenced to death and especially Radek, who did not even appeal for clemency, but defiantly proclaimed his guilt to the last.

The Court found that there were extenuating circumstances in the other four cases, arguing that although the defendants were guilty on all counts they had not participated in actual terrorism.

All the property of all the men convicted will be confiscated by the State.—Reuter.

WAR MENACE GROWING

Moscow, Jan. 30. Hundreds of thousands of workers, students and soldiers thronged the Red Square, carrying banners bearing caricatures of Radek inscribed with denunciations of Japanese and German fascists, and celebrating the trial sentences with complete satisfaction in the Court's findings.

The workers' meetings passed a resolution to the effect that the "Military Collegium's verdict is the decision of one hundred and seventy million Soviet citizens."

The "Izvestia" in its comment says that the menace of war is growing: German and Japanese spies were compelled to prove this with the utmost clarity at the trial. Therein lies the first object lesson which tells of the U.S.S.R. and all friends of peoples at peace must learn from the trial.—Reuter.

GOERING'S DENIAL

Berlin, Jan. 30. In a speech concluding the session at the Reichstag on Saturday, Premier Goering, after pointing out the importance of Hitler's declaration that Germany refuses to regard her signature under the war guilt clause of the Versailles Treaty as valid, referred to the Trotsky trial in Moscow and emphatically denied the allegation that a responsible German minister or his representative, negotiated with Trotsky.—Transocean News Service.

PACIFIC COAST STOPPAGE

Strikers Urged To Accept Agreements

San Francisco, Jan. 31. The Maritime Union leaders have ordered a vote to be taken on the question of settlement of the seamen's strike on the Pacific Coast and also recommended the strikers to accept tentative agreements to end the stoppage. Approval of the majority of strikers is regarded as certain.—Reuter.

CONTROL OF SILK TRANSACTIONS

Berlin Measure

Berlin, Jan. 30. The Silk Supervisory Board has decreed wholesale purchases of natural silk and barter transactions involving silk to be controlled henceforth under a special permit. Firms are required to notify the Board of their silk stocks.—Reuter.

SIT-DOWN STRIKERS

Ejection Order Sought

Flint, Mich., Jan. 30. Legal proceedings will be taken on Monday for the ejection of 1,300 sit-down strikers at the General Motors factory.

The General Motors Corporation claims that almost 80 per cent of the 135,000 workers rendered idle by the strike want to return to work. The company's brief describes the sit-down strikers as dismissed employees and asks that they be ordered to cease trespassing on the company's property.

During the occupation of the factories the men were supplied with heat and light by General Motors, while food was brought in by sympathisers. Any offences have been adjudicated on by their own courts inside the buildings and punishment for breaking rules has been extra picket duty, wash-up and other unpleasant jobs. Machinery and equipment have been generally scrupulously respected.

Governor Murphy is doing his best to avert steps which may become necessary if the General Motors Corporation insist on the sit-down strikers being driven out as trespassers.—Reuter.

GOODRICH RESUMES

Akron, Ohio, Jan. 30. The Goodrich Rubber Company has announced the resumption of operations at midnight on Sunday, pending solution of the wage demands.

On Friday, following a sit-down strike by thirty-one workers who demanded increases in wages, the firm announced the suspension of manufacturing operations which affected 20,000 workers.—Reuter.

UNITED STATES FLOODS

Thousands Removed To Safety

New York, Jan. 30. Weeping women are being evacuated from farms of the Mississippi Valley, while their husbands are remaining behind to salvage livestock and property.

As the fast rising river threatens possible engulfment, thousands began to evacuate Memphis, Tennessee, where it is reported 25,000 persons are stricken by influenza and pneumonia.

Complete evacuation of 32,000 people has been ordered at Paducah, Kentucky, where the oncoming flood crest has spread through the entire city, leaving 8,000 marooned on second floors of houses.

Nearly a thousand boats are engaged in rescue and relief work in the Ohio Valley. Fifty-four thousand people have been evacuated by boat from their Louisville homes.—Reuter.

Tokyo Cabinet Formation

Army Nominee Declines To Serve

Tokyo, Jan. 31. A hitch connected with the portfolios of War and Navy is holding up the formation of General Hayashi's new Cabinet. General Sugiyama, Director of Military Education, has declined to be the Army's nominee for the post of War Minister, and a similar situation has apparently arisen regarding the Navy portfolio.

ARMY PROGRAMME

Tokyo, Jan. 30. It is thought probable that political parties will not be represented in the new Cabinet, which is expected to adopt a policy of conformity with the Army's desire to reform the administrative system. The Army programme includes reform of the Diet, strengthening of armaments, and the carrying out of a "forward" programme in China.

Revision of the electoral laws is also foreshadowed. After General Ugaki's abandonment of the post, the Premiership was offered to Mr. Hirama, President of the Privy Council, who declined. It was then that General Hayashi was summoned to the Palace, late last night.—Reuter.

SINGAPORE MANOEUVRES

Combined Operations For Four Days

London, Jan. 30. H.M. Ships of China station, army units in Singapore area, and Royal Air Force squadrons of Far East Command, supplemented by certain squadrons from India and Iraq, will take part in combined operations which begin to-morrow and will extend over four days and will, it is anticipated, give an opportunity for studying problems affecting each arm in relation to the defence of Singapore.—British Wireless.

LARGEST CONCENTRATION

Singapore, Jan. 30. The largest concentration of the British Air Force in the Far East takes place in Singapore next week when the manoeuvres begin. Singapore will be attacked by air, land and sea, and 6,000 troops will take part in the defence of the island.

PENANG DEFENCES

Construction of military defence works and barracks at Penang will be the next step in Britain's defence scheme for the Far East. So far 120 acres of land have been reserved for erection of gun emplacements and buildings. Artillery and engineers will be drafted immediately accommodation is available.

An Air Force squadron will also be based at Penang together with hangars and repair shops.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

BELGIUM DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Shooting Of Diplomat By Spanish Militia

Brussels, Jan. 30. A meeting between the Belgian foreign minister, Spaak, and foreign minister of the Spanish government, Del Vayo, took place on Saturday in St. Quentin in northern France, the subject of their discussion being the shooting of the Belgian diplomat, de Borchgrave, by Spanish militia.

The Belgian minister again demanded that a comprehensive and detailed investigation be made in order to clarify the incident, and Del Vayo, according to a special report to "Solr," agreed by promising that the cabinet of the Valencia government would take up the case on Tuesday.

Spaak expressed the hope that he would be in a position to make a positive statement on the incident in the Belgian senate on Wednesday.—Transocean News Service.

SHENSI SITUATION VERY OBSCURE

Clash Reported

Nanking, Jan. 31. The Shensi situation continues to be very obscure. Official circles maintain that the rebels have only withdrawn from Chihshui. In the meanwhile Government forces have clashed with Chang Hsueh-liang's 105th Division under Liu To-chan. It is not clear whether the clash was accidental, whether peace negotiations have again broken down, or whether the Reds are interfering with the terms of the settlement.—Reuter.

BRITISH INDUSTRY AND TRADE

Increased Home Production Of Foodstuffs

London, Jan. 30. Referring in a speech at Bridgewater in Somerset to revival of British industry and trade, Mr. Walter Elliot, Secretary for Scotland and formerly Minister for Agriculture, said that since 1931 the production of British agriculture had gone up nearly 20 per cent.

This increased home production of foodstuffs had been accompanied by increased industrial production more employment, higher wages and an all-round advance to prosperity.

For a strong nation adequate defence and adequate sustenance were both necessary. Adequate defence was being provided rapidly and efficiently in all three services. Orders had been placed which were limited only by the power of the nation to deliver the goods without trenching on industrial and agricultural efficiency. The Admiralty alone up to end of 1936 had placed contracts of over £36,000,000.—British Wireless.

BRITISH TEXTILES EXHIBITION

London, Jan. 30. A display of Lancashire productions will be the feature of the British textiles exhibition at White City, a section of next month's British Industries fair. Forty Lancashire firms, including some of the largest cotton firms in the world, are taking part. A large attendance of overseas buyers is expected.

United Kingdom exports of manufactured textiles in 1936 showed an advance of £5,000,000 compared with 1935. The home market has also shown a steady improvement.—British Wireless.

ROYAL COMMISSION ON PALESTINE

London, Jan. 31. The Royal Commission on Palestine has returned to London. Lord Peel told Reuter that he could not say when the report might be expected. The Commission, examined a huge amount of evidence and heard over a hundred witnesses.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

AFGHAN PREMIER VISITS LONDON

Guest Of Government For One Week

London, Jan. 30. The Afghan Prime Minister, Sardar Mohamed Hashim Khan, has arrived in London where he will be spending a week as the guest of the Government.

He will be entertained at luncheon by Mr. Stanley Baldwin at 10 Downing Street on Monday, be received in audience by the King on Tuesday, and be the guest of honour of the Foreign Office at a dinner on Wednesday. The visit is stated to have no special significance.—Reuter.

POST OFFICE CELEBRATION

London, Jan. 30. The centenary will be celebrated next month of the issue by the Postmaster General, Mr. Rowland Hill, in 1837 of his historic pamphlet containing proposals for reform of the post office which laid the foundations of the present vast organisation. His influence was world-wide for his uniform postage scheme was the first practical step towards the foundation of what has been described as the world's most comprehensive society of nations, namely the universal postal union.—British Wireless.

IDLE BANK FUNDS TO BE LOCKED UP

U.S. Federal Reserve Board Order

Washington, Jan. 30. The Federal Reserve Board has ordered about 1,500 million dollars of idle bank funds to be locked up to check potential inflationary expansion of credit. The Board announced thirty-three and a third per cent increase in the required reserves, funds which must be held as backing for bank deposits. This is the maximum increase permitted by law. In effect the order is to lock up or freeze a greater portion of the existing excess reserves totalling 2,150 million dollars.—Reuter.

FINAL INTERPORT SOCCER TRIAL PLAYED UNDER POOR CONDITIONS

LEE WAI TONG SAVES SOUTH CHINA "A"

Full Week-end Soccer Results

Despite the unfavourable weather conditions, the League football matches on Saturday, as expected, attracted large crowds of football enthusiasts to the different grounds in Hong Kong and the Mainland and some very good games were seen. The holders of the Senior Division trophy, South China "A" met with unexpected resistance from the Eastern Football Club and were forced to concede three goals before they won by the narrowest possible margin, Lee Wai-tong, the idol of thousands of football fans throughout China, coming to the rescue of his side with two excellent goals.

A feature of this match was the consistent marking of Lee Wai-tong by the Eastern players who seemed determined not to give this brilliant player any quarter but it was evident that Lee was taking things easily in view of the fact that he had to take part in the Interport trial on the following afternoon.

After Eastern narrowly missed scoring twice in the early minutes of the game, South China established a 1-0 lead at half-time, the goal coming from Ho Ka-keung who added to his side's total almost immediately after the interval. Not to be outdone Eastern equalised with two goals by Cheung Siu-hong and it was about this stage that Lee began to take an interest in the game and sent in two characteristic goals. Eastern were, by this time, a beaten team but just before the final whistle Sung Ling-sing added their third goal to make the final score 4-3 in favour of the champions.

Athletic Unlucky

Those who watched the Athletic-Fusiliers game on the Kowloon ground came away with the impression that the Athletic were unlucky in not getting at least a point, for they played better football than they had done for some time and the final tally of 3-2 in favour of the Fusiliers rather flattered the military team.

The Chinese drew first blood when Kwok Ying-ki sent a low drive past Rowlands but this success was short-lived for soon after Roberts netted the equaliser. With the score at 1-1 at half-time, a gruelling second half was promised and so it proved until the Chinese tired from the pace set by the soldiers. Kwok sent his side ahead with a first-timer and for a time the Athletic dominated the play until Talbot gained possession and crowned a beautiful solo run with a fine goal. The same player scored the winning goal for the Fusiliers.

Seaforths Shine

Those who expressed the opinion that the Seaforths did not count much as a football team reversed their opinion after watching the Seaforths-Recreio game at King's

LEE WAI TONG GIVES ANOTHER FINE DISPLAY AT CENTRE FORWARD

Bickford And Talbot Combine Perfectly

(BY BEN MADIGAN)

The final trial game, prior to the selection of the Colony Interport XI took place yesterday afternoon on the Club Ground. The large crowd of spectators who braved the elements were treated to a good afternoon's football—despite the fact that the slippery pitch was all against good football.

During the opening stages it could be clearly seen that the players were finding great difficulty in keeping their feet—and many well meant passes went astray. The Whites had much the better of the exchanges during the first half.

Fourth Test At Adelaide: England In Strong Position

Adelaide, Jan. 30.
Australia added only 21 runs for the remaining three wickets on the second day's play in the Fourth Test, bringing their total to 238. England scored 174 for two wickets and they are 114 runs behind with eight wickets in hand.

There was a crowd of 25,000 present in wet weather when Chipperfield (45) and O'Reilly (3) went out to resume Australia's innings at 2.57 for 7 on a good wicket.

Sims fielded for Voce, whose back is worse, although he is expected to play on Monday.

Only four runs had been added when O'Reilly gave Leyland a "sitter" at silly mid-on off Allen. McCormick was caught on the off side by Ames off Hammond and five runs later Fleetwood-Smith had his leg stump uprooted by one of Farnes' expressers, the innings thus closing for 238, scored in 335 minutes.

ENGLAND BATS

A crowd of 45,000 was given a surprise when Verity accompanied Barnett to open the England innings half an hour before the scheduled time for lunch. The pair added 18 runs before the interval, Verity being 7 and Barnett 9. Allen very wisely refrained from sending Wyatt out for the vital hour—the Warwickshire skipper has only recently recovered from a hand injury sustained in the first match of the tour.

McCormick had the double misfortune of dropping a hard return catch from Barnett and at the same time dislocating the third finger of his right hand. He was forced to retire for a few minutes and was not as accurate when he resumed. It will be recalled that, after taking four cheap wickets in the first Test, he took no further part in the game owing to an attack of lumbago.

G. O. Allen, the English Test captain, bowled Don Bradman, the Australian skipper, for 23 in the first innings of the Fourth Test.

trao, Erwin and Taylor. Fung King Cheong and Talbot added further goals for Colours and Leonard replied for Whites in the second period.

FAU PROMINENT
I think Pau Ka Ping was a shade more conspicuous than Rowlands in goal. Lee Tin Sang was the best right back on view, and the display of Stevens at left back for Whites was the best defensive exhibition I have seen this season. Of the forwards Talbot and Fung King Cheong were the pick, Wilson had a poor day and Lai Shui Wing was clever but never really felt at home on the slippery pitch. I think Bickford will be a sound choice for the left wing position. As centre forward Lee Wai Tong still remains unchallenged, his brilliant sharpshooting and dribbling being without equal.

SATURDAY'S CRICKET RESULTS

Kowloon And Police In Race For League Honours

The League cricket matches on Saturday resulted very much as expected though there was a mild sensation in the friendly when the Indian Recreation Club, with a very much depleted team, beat the Hong Kong Cricket Club at Sookunpoo by 53 runs. These two teams are running neck and neck for Premier League honours and they meet in the "needle" match a fortnight hence—a match that is anxiously awaited by all followers of the game.

The Second Division championship now rests between the Kowloon Cricket Club and the Police Recreation Club, with the odds slightly in favour of the mainland team. They meet this Saturday and a draw would give K.C.C. the title which has eluded them since 1921-22.

Capt. Michell (Army "B") was the highest scorer of the day with 79 runs while A. R. Abbas's 6 for 12, against the Hong Kong Cricket, represented the best bowling feat.

Club's Rugby Win Over United Services

The Hong Kong Rugby Football Club, winners of the Triangular Tournament, gave a brilliant display at Sookunpoo on Saturday when they beat a strong United Services XV by three goals, a dropped goal and two tries (25 points), H.D. Didwell and W.E. Grieve, in the Club centre-three-quarter positions, being prominent for some very clever passing bouts.

The Services' centre-three-quarters tackled much too late in the opening half, thus providing Bidwell and Grieve with openings which they were not slow to realise, but a change about in the second half, when Floyd exchanged places with Gordon allowed very few of the Club attacking movements to penetrate down the centre.

Munro was an absentee from the right wing-three-quarter position, which was filled by van Leeuwen. Chadwick, on the other wing, showed a fine turn of speed, and, although bundled into touch on several occasions, scored twice during the game.

MacLagen played a vastly improved game as the left centre-three-quarter for the Services and twice broke through the Club's defence.

TWO GOOD TRIES

The opening minutes of the game saw Bidwell sending Grieve over to score between the posts for Watson to add the goal points. A few minutes later Bidwell gave the ball to Deane who scored. Watson added the goal points.

A nice movement down the centre of the field culminated in Chadwick punting ahead to race Beynam for the ball, but Watson failed with the kick at goal. Just before the interval another splendid run by Grieve saw him cleverly "sell the dummy" to send Butcher over near the posts. Watson converting.

SERVICES THROUGH

Starting the second half with a reinforced three-quarter line, the Services, although 18 points in arrears, scored almost immediately when MacLagen and Floyd broke through, the latter sending Harrison over near the posts. The kick at goal, taken by Gillespie, fell short. Almost immediately after the restart a passing movement among the Club backs saw Bidwell in possession, and he dropped a fine goal. The Services, however, were undeterred by this sudden reverse and Harvey broke clean through the centre for a fine try. Northcott adding the goal points. The latter stages of the game were fairly even and Chadwick broke through for another try which Grieve failed to improve upon. Almost in the last minutes of the game Floyd, who had hitherto been playing a great defensive game, started Club defence with one of his characteristic breakaways, giving Harrison the ball on the Club line for the final score. Northcott again adding the goal points.

Club "A" Beaten

In one of the best "A" fifteen Rugby matches witnessed this season, the Combined Services beat the Club by a goal, a dropped goal and two tries (15 points) to a try (3 points) on the Sookunpoo ground. The Services were the aggressors throughout and would have doubled their score but for faulty handling among the three-quarters in the latter stages.

"Y" Ladies Win Caer Clark Cup For First Time

The "Y" Ladies hockey team won the Caer Clark Hockey Cup for the current season on Saturday when they beat the Hong Kong Ladies in the deciding match at Happy Valley, by the odd goal in three.

The match was played at a terrific pace and the greatest credit must be given to both teams for their fine display. Miss Marie Smith, the speedy "Y" inside-left, was the heroine of the game, netting both of the "Y" goals while Mrs. Oliver scored for the Hong Kong Ladies.

Until the middle of the first half, Hong Kong Ladies had the better of the exchanges and Mrs. Donald went very close on several occasions, only to be baulked by Mrs. Stephens in goal. The "Y" then settled down and Miss Marie Smith opened the scoring with a good flick-shot from a difficult angle.

The second half opened sensationally. The "Y" obtained possession from the initial bully and a nice movement down the centre resulted in Miss Smith netting with a perfect drive.

From this time onward, Hong Kong Ladies pressed continually and, after several opportunities were missed by the inside forwards, Mrs. Oliver reduced the deficit.

Although continually on the attack, the losers could not pierce the stalwart "Y" defence and the final whistle sounded with no further addition to the score.

Football Results

Park when the former scored a thoroughly deserved win by 4 goals to 2. In fairness to the Portuguese Club, however, it must be stated that they were without N. Beltrao, but it is doubtful if the result would have been different even if this redoubtable pivot had taken part in the game.

Recrelo scored first through Comes but Miller not only equalised but soon sent his side ahead with a clever goal. The King's Park club then drew level when Aquino scored but this did not in anyway deter the Highlanders who added further goals through Miller and Higgins.

Navy Outplayed

Fielding a depleted side, with the Fleet away at Singapore, the Navy put up a creditable show against the strong South China "B" team even though they were beaten by four goals to nil. The game had not been in progress for long when Shury, of the Navy team, sustained a nasty cut over the eye when heading the ball from a corner kick and had to be taken to the hospital for attention. Chan Tak-fai (2), Cheuk Shek-kam and Lee Shek-yau scored for the winners.

Club Bow To Rifles

At Chatham Road, the Hong Football Club were beaten by two clear goals by the Rifles in spite of the fact that Syd Strange, the former Interporter, played a sterling game at full-back.

Moore, the Rifles' leader, was in great form, and supported as he was by Ferguson and Killen, it was surprising that the Rifles did not score more goals.

The score sheet, up to half-time, was a complete blank, but in the second half, after a goal had been disallowed (for the Rifles) on account of offside, Moore headed one past Rodgers to give his side the lead which he increased just before full-time.

St. Joseph's Win

Despite the fact that they were playing without David Leonard and Costa, the Saints proved too good for Kowloon Football Club when they met on the Club ground and won by two goals to nil.

On the run of play, the Saints should have won by a bigger margin, but they appeared to be content to take things too easily as it was apparent, from the very start of the game, that the opposition was not too strong. Hagan scored the first goal for the Saints and late in the second half White added to the total.

FRIENDLIES

Indians Beat Club

At Sookunpoo, the Indian Recreation Club beat the Hong Kong Cricket Club by 53 runs in a friendly match, the outstanding feature of which was the splendid bowling analysis of A. R. Abbas, who captured 6 wickets for 12 runs in 10 overs, five of which were maidens!

Empire Air Services

Unprecedented and refreshing smoothness has so far characterized the first flights on Empire air routes of the new big flying boats, of which three are already in service in the Mediterranean. Of the others completed, two are long-range Atlantic boats, and one is for the Bermuda-New York line.

One of the Atlantic boats, the Caledonia, by way of a trial run flew non-stop nearly 1,700 miles from Alexandria to Marseilles in little more than eleven hours. The distance is only 200 miles short of the Atlantic crossing between Ireland and Newfoundland, and the Caledonia carried a big pay-load.

The maximum non-stop range of this boat in still air is no fewer than 3,800 miles, and against a steady 40 m.p.h. wind it can fly 2,450 miles at an airspeed of 160 m.p.h., or 2,700 miles at 143 m.p.h.

The Castor has already inaugurated an important change in the working of the Empire air services. Up to the present passengers and mails have travelled between Paris and Brindisi by train, taking about thirty-six hours, including two nights. Two of the services in each direction each week—the outward Indian services and the inward African—will now be worked by air between Alexandria and Marseilles, and by train between Marseilles and Paris. This will shorten the train stage by one night.

GREAT ACCELERATION

A foretaste of the great acceleration in the services which is at hand was provided by the Caledonia's flight from Marseilles to Southampton in four hours. But normally, when the whole of the journey will regularly be by air all through, stops may be made at Caudebec, on the Seine, near Rouen, and at Macon, on the Saône.

The route from Marseilles will be by way of Rome, Naples, and Brindisi.

As soon as Southampton is ready for temporary duty (pending completion of works at Portsmouth) as the English terminus of Imperial Airways Empire services, the train stage will be entirely eliminated.

The time schedules, however, will not be reduced until night-flying, for which preparations are far advanced, becomes regular.

The new Empire air mail scheme, with its carriage of letters without surcharge over thousands of miles, will begin with the South African route. Flying boats will do the whole journey, with the important change on the European side already mentioned, and diverging from the present route at Mombasa, whence they will follow the east coast to Durban.

Before the year is out the new scheme will be in operation almost in its entirety. It provides for the shortening of the journey to India from 5 days to 2½, to the Cape from 10½ to 4½ days, and to Australia from about 12½ days to 8 days.

In 1931 a few hundred thousand letters were carried on Empire air services in a year. This traffic has grown to 3½ tons (representing about 350,000 letters) leaving Croydon for the Empire routes each week. At a conservative estimate 20 tons of air mail will leave England weekly under the new scheme. Ceylon is now linked with the Empire air routes by air by means of a service between Colombo and Karachi.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Review

Saturday, Jan. 30.
Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states:—

Both the Hong Kong and Manila markets have been quiet during the past week, but the undertone is firm and we shall not be surprised to see them blazon forth into actively at almost any time. These remarks apply particularly to the local market, for given a lead, many of our popular counters are ripe for rapid improvement in values. Hk & W. Docks are an example. These shares were obtainable early this month at $14.25. On aggressive buying they have now been carried to $17.—closing. (We recommended this share to our readers two weeks ago).

Utilities have again been well supported. China Lights touching $14 and Hk Electric $56. Hong Kong Trams announce a 40 cts. final dividend (making 60 cts. for 1936). Earnings were good for the 2nd half of the past year, so that at $12.80 cum dividend this stock appears an attractive investment. Star Ferries offer at $83 cum dividend and Yaumats are quiet around $24½. Telephones (old) are in enquiry at $28 and the "New" at $10.40.

Singapore Tractions ordinary can be taken at 25 cts.—Hotels are a rather limited market, for on any reaction to around $5.50, buyers quickly appear, but around $6, sellers predominate. These shares are gradually passing into stronger hands and their market is therefore becoming healthier. Lands are in good buying enquiry at $34.50, but Humphreys offer at $9.80. Wharves and Providents have had transactions at $10½ and $1.50 respectively.

Of sterling stocks, sellers of Banks offer shares at $1875, and sales of Unions have been consummated at $625. Ewos are quietly firm at $115.80 and Raub Gold have buyers at $12.80.

Philippine Mining. Just a moderate volume of business has been done. Consolidated Mines have been featured and sales have been made up to 3 cents. This share is expected to go higher. Demonstrations also are active and can be taken at $1.62. East Mindanao are now generally popular on this market and at around 70 cents, exchanges are frequent. San Mauricos and Antamoks are quietly steady at $5.30 and $2.90 respectively. Coco Grove eased to sales at $1.40. Benguet Explorations have buyers at 32 cts. and Suyces at 35 cts. Santa Rosas have taken a sharp spurt to 15 cents buyers.

Concluding comment. Hong Kong. Steady; improving slowly. Manila. Generally steady, but business selective.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE

Recruitment By Selection

In order to remedy the under-recruitment of Europeans which has occurred in recent years, the Secretary of State for India proposes to select in 1937, as in 1936, a certain number of candidates for admission to the Indian Civil Service and to the Burma Civil Service (Class L) otherwise than by written competitive examination. The examination will, as hitherto, be used to meet the normal requirements of the year. In 1937 and subsequent years the majority of the vacancies reserved for Indian candidates will be filled in India, the London examination being restricted to Europeans and to those Indians who have had their University education in this country. The European vacancies will be filled independently of the Indian vacancies, and it is probable that there will be a considerable increase in the number of European vacancies to be filled by examination (provided that a sufficient number of suitably qualified European candidates apply for appointment), and that this number will exceed the number filled by selection without written examination. A candidate is at liberty to enter for appointment by both methods. Applications to be considered for selection must be made on a printed form, which may be ob-

TO NORTH POLE BY SUBMARINE

New Attempt By Sir H. Wilkins

Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer, hopes to sail this year in a new attempt to reach the North Pole by submarine, writes a Home correspondent.

An unusual submersible craft has been designed, largely by Sir Hubert himself. The cost of the 210-ton vessel will be about £40,000. All the scientific apparatus is ready. The hull will be of 3-in. steel, 74ft in overall length, 14ft in beam, with a 2½-square keel. Motive power on the surface will probably be Diesel-electric machinery, and under water by batteries.
